DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been examined. Claims 1-29 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3, 6, 15 and 21-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Turk et al (Figure 4). Note the temperature sensitive safety valve including a biased valve actuated to a closed position in response to a plurality of sensed conditions including fire 150. An audible alarm 145 is shown. Venting of vent 122 allows actuation of the valve.
4. Claims 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mangiameli (Figure1). See column 2, lines 16+ in which a frangible element is broken to allow actuation of the valve h.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3753

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 148 USPQ 459, that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or unobviousness.

7. Claims 4, 7-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Turk et al. The claims are readable on the patent to Turk et al with the exception of remote wireless actuation as taught by Waldbeser et al. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to the assembly of Turk et al to include remote control as taught by Figure 2 (remote controller 42), as taught by Waldbeser et al in order to provide remote actuation of the gas valve 25 of Turk et al to the closed position.

8. Claims 5 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Turk et al in view of D'Antonio et al. The claims are readable on the patent to Turk et al with the exception of solar cell energy source for an ambient condition responsive valve as taught by D'Antonio et al.(see column 6, lines 7+). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to the assembly of Turk et al to include a solar cell energy as taught by D'Antonio et al in order to provide a backup power source for the valve 25 of Turk et al.
